

The Sasazuka and Hatagaya areas offer an alternative Shibuya experience for those looking to get away from the hustle and bustle of the central shopping area of Shibuya Station, as well as a more intimate glimpse of daily life in Tokyo.

The shopping street (shotengai) serves as a time capsule to Japan's Showa era, a period in history where the country saw economic growth and a positive outlook towards the future. Shopping streets like these have become a place of nostalgia for many Japanese people, so patrons of all ages love taking trips here to remember the good old days.

You can enjoy cozy coffee shops, discover unique select second hand shops, and try delicious and affordable snacks at the various food stands along the walking path. You won't run out of things to discover in this district where the past meets the future.
